MEMKO to debut Intercim Operations Software at NMW 2009

MEMKO will debut Intercim manufacturing and production operations management software, Pertinence Suite, on Stand 1819 during National Manufacturing Week at the Melbourne Convention & Exhibition Centre from May 12 to 15.

Pertinence Suite incorporates manufacturing and production operations management software solutions for advanced and highly regulated industries and has been successfully deployed by global organisations operating in the aerospace, automotive and pharmaceutical industries.

Pertinence Suite enables users on the shop floor and across the supply network to better collaborate on process definition, manufacturing execution, and quality management to reduce manufacturing costs, improve cycle times, and accelerate time to market.

NMW is the first opportunity for manufacturers to experience the Intercim software in Australia.

MEMKO PTY LTD as the official reseller of Intercim Pertinence Suite provides services, resources, methodologies and products to support organisations in developing new products and processes, capturing new markets, implementing quality systems to global industry standards and achieving performance improvements through the deployment of technology and LEAN.
